

Thanks to everyone for doing this. Any chance there could be a 15-20 minute newscast you could get WCIA to do where you show the visuals? The 3-D modeling and the photos are so helpful. My only suggestion is to be careful about the pedestrian overpass for the Central designs. I know from experience if you make people go out of their normal walking path, they will not do it or will grumble a lot. Make it easy for people to use the overpass. If there is a way to make it a gentle ramp up rather than stairs that turn corners that will help too.
