

I haven't seen the lack of state budget addressed in relationship to the potential referendum for addressing the high school needs, but I think this is on a lot of tax payer minds. If the budget continues to be deadlocked in Springfield, how will that affect Unit 4, and in turn, how will that affect the districts needs from the tax payers? Additionally, there have been rumblings about redistributing how schools receive payment from the state. Will that help or hurt Unit 4? Basically, I'm wondering if one or both of these things will make it necessary for Unit 4 to turn to the the tax rolls to fill in gaps left by the state. I've heard several people suggest we should wait for a new budget before we ask for a referendum and I'm wondering what the actual situation is.

Thanks,

Rebecca
